

New studies of the human brain make it obvious that allowing cell phone use on planes would be a mistake. We now know that there exist large differences in sensitivity, perception and tolerance, some of it "hard wired" into people. Elsewhere, we make adjustments in our lives, but in a plane WE ARE TRAPPED. Please say no to cellphone use on planes. It is already bad enough on trains.